MR FLOPPY PITCH DECK:Mr Floppy - Logline

A clueless optimist tries to fix everyday problems, accidentally turning his quiet town into a nonstop circus of chaos.

PROJECT OVERVIEW:

Mr Floppy is a chaotic comedy series about a well-meaning man whose attempts to help his small town always spiral into unexpected, ridiculous disasters. Every episode follows Mr Floppy as he tackles simple tasks and tries to enjoy the simple things – decorating for Christmas, riding a bus, going to the cinema – only for each one to explode into full-scale chaos that creates a full blown meltdown for him. With big personalities, escalating mishaps, and a town that never learns, Mr Floppy delivers fast-paced sketch-style comedy built on good intentions gone catastrophically wrong.

tone & style:

Mr Floppy is a high-energy slapstick comedy where simple everyday tasks explode into loud, messy, physical chaos. The tone is big and silly, with accidents, mishaps, and escalating disasters driving every scene. The humour leans heavily on visual gags, clumsy collisions, unexpected falls, runaway objects, and chain-reaction catastrophes that spiral far beyond anything Mr Floppy intended. Danger is always present but never serious – it's the fun, exaggerated kind where someone might slip, crash, tumble, or get stuck, but always in a ridiculous, harmless way. The emotional tone stays bright and optimistic, powered by Mr Floppy's endless determination to help, even as the world around him collapses in spectacular slapstick fashion.

WORLD OF THE SERIES:

Mr Floppy unfolds in a small British town where normal life is constantly ambushed by ridiculous, fast-escalating chaos. The world looks peaceful on the surface – quiet streets, friendly neighbours, cosy shops – but the moment Mr Floppy tries to help, everything detonates into slapstick mayhem. Everyday locations become disaster zones: the post office turns into a stamp-flying battlefield, the fairground becomes a stressful mayhem, and the swimming pool regularly ends up with more water outside the pool than inside it. The town's residents react loudly, dramatically, and usually in ways that make the situation ten times worse. What makes this world unique is its blend of ordinary British life with a level of irritable comic catastrophe, where even the simplest task can trigger a chain reaction of crashes, spills, falls, explosions, and community-wide chaos – all harmless, all hilarious, and all caused by one man who genuinely means well.

CHARACTERS:

MR FLOPPY:

Mr Floppy is a walking disaster disguised as a nice man who genuinely thinks he's helping – loudly. He shouts his way through every situation, blurting out panicked, ridiculous lines as the universe responds by exploding, collapsing, or loud irritation. He's sweet, clueless, and somehow manages to turn even the safest moment into a full-scale slapstick emergency, complete with yelling, flapping arms, and catastrophes nobody asked for.

CHARACTER TYPE PREFERENCE - Mid.30s, Floppy hair, shouty, fed-up everyman with natural comedic timing and a constant stream of complaints.

(A longer Preference Description for Mr Floppy is outlined in my Preference Page on my website)

SERIES OVERVIEW:

Mr Floppy's series arc is one long chain of loud, ridiculous slapstick disasters. Every episode begins with him confidently trying to help and ends with him shouting something chaotic as the world collapses around him. His good intentions create bigger, slipperier, louder catastrophes – stamp storms, wobbling chairs, malfunctioning fairground rides, waltzer seats that are too slippery, and crocodile pool inflatables that seem to look at him funny. Over time, Mr Floppy becomes the town's accidental chaos magnet: sweet, loud, and constantly in trouble.
